

Management & Supervisory Training

A two day course emphasizing management & employment law-related topics

About This Course

Managing a workforce indeed poses challenges but also rewards. Seasoned instructors with real workplace experience help navigate both veteran and newly assigned managers/supervisors through this curriculum, addressing issues public-sector managers/supervisors already face, and how to constructively hone their skills in many areas, including:

- 📁 Leadership and Supervision
- 📁 Communications
- 📁 Managing Time and Priorities
- 📁 Dealing with Problem Employees
- 📁 Public Sector Ethics
- 📁 Avoiding/responding to claims of harassment, bullying, discrimination & potential employment-related liability

The Instructors

Connie Poulsen is Director of Leadership & Management Education for Peninsula College in Port Angeles. She develops/delivers various management-related workshops to businesses & the public sector, primarily on the Olympic Peninsula.

She is also a principle in Poulsen & Associates, where she contracts with organizations as a professional speaker, trainer & consultant. She came to Peninsula College after 30 years at Xerox Corp., where she managed sales & profit as District Manager of Los Angeles.
